

December 2011
FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Live From Lincoln Center Educational Outreach Now accepting chamber ensemble submissions

➤ clickable links in this document appear in blue

For the past two years Live From Lincoln Center Educational Outreach has recognized and promoted outstanding student orchestras. At this time, we are extending the opportunity to include chamber ensembles.

Educational Outreach Specialists, Lila Ainsworth and Earl Groner wish to encourage music educators to submit live performance videos of their student orchestras and chamber ensembles. Selected ensembles and their directors will receive a letter of commendation along with the framed award certificate from Live From Lincoln Center and international exposure on the Live From Lincoln Center website and YouTube channel. All award winning video performances will be permanently archived at livefromlincolncenter.org under "Outstanding Student Performances", providing educators with access to a variety of performances from around the nation.

- To view award winning video performances and to learn more about the procedures required for submitting a video, go to Live From Lincoln Center and open the "view video" and "submit video" links under "Outstanding Student Performances".
- View award winning performances on the Live From Lincoln Center YouTube Channel at LFLCvideos
- *Read more about past award recipients and Live From Lincoln Center in the 2011 November issue of the American String Teacher in the article titled Live From Lincoln Center Honors "Outstanding Students Performances" in partnership with ASTA and NAFME.
-  Become a fan of Live From Lincoln Center

✚ For further information, contact Educational Outreach Specialists Lila Ainsworth or Earl Groner.